

Researchers | Consultants

The Systemic Excellence Group is a close group of professional systemic consultants. This allows us to divide our time between research and consulting and thus to expand our qualifications. We view ourselves as consulting researchers or researching consultants with high expectations for our performance.

We expect our consultants to hold at least a Master's degree with above-average grades. Further, they should have experience and qualifications in the area of systemic theory and practice. We offer them the chance to become part of a team which is a space for reflection that constantly works on its development. Open-mindedness, personal empathy as well as a strong commitment to conducting research and consulting collectively are the basis of our work.

The Systemic Excellence group is located in Berlin. While our working language is English, knowledge of German is an asset.

If you would like to know more about us and would like to get to know us, please contact Mr. Louis Klein at Louis.Klein@SEgroup.de or +49 30 71 57 49 71.
