

Consulting 21 – The Future of Consulting

Call for Participation

Systemic Excellence Group

Independent Think Tank for Leading Practice

Systemic Excellence Group (SEgroup) Office Berlin announces the start of an explorative discourse study on the future of consulting. Managers, consultants and experts will be challenged to explore the value consulting may create in regard of social responsibility. Signing for participation shall be possible until 15 March 2010 at Consulting21@SEgroup.de.

The focus of the Consulting 21 study is on change, on the spectrum ranging from continuous improvement to genuine innovation. The explorative discourse study will be based on the findings of former SEgroup's BoK (book of knowledge) studies like "Leadership 21", "Next HPO: Towards organisational integrity" and "Next Practice NGO".

The study, conducted as a Systemic Inquiry process, aims at evidence-based experience and facilitates knowledge sharing among professionals, exploring the presence and envisioning the future of consulting.

First results of the Consulting 21 study are expected for the end of the second quarter 2010.
